

Municipality welcomes new IDP Manager

Charles J Chordnum joins the organization in the capacity as Manager IDP and Performance Management, responsible for the strategic management processes that leads to the development of the Integrated Development Plan (IDP) and institutionalisation of performance management.

Mr. Chordnum comes from Ngwathe Local Municipality, where he provided strategic support services to the Office of Municipal Manager. Mr Chordnum obtained an undergraduate qualification from Cape Peninsula University of Technology in Public Administration and a Post-Graduate Qualification in Public Management from the University of Stellenbosch.

He was raised and schooled in Paarl and as he indicates; 'is fortunate to join a dynamic coastal municipality of Knysna' where he is focused on making a difference.

He hopes to inspire structured planning and innovation to support sustainable development for the greater good of Knysna and all its inhabitants.

He will focus on driving the institutionalisation of departmental plans, linked to set goals and performance indicators that informs Council reporting to the broader public.

"I look forward to my interaction and engagement with both public and different stakeholders, at set platforms to strengthen public confidence and good government".
